Hadith of the week

[Important] The honour and respect of the words of Allah (SWT) and His Messenger (SAW) is obligatory on us. Due consideration needs to be given in the manner we dispose such material.

Ibne-Abbas Radiyallahu anhuma narrates:

I was (riding) behind Nabi Sallallahu 'alaihi wasallam one day when he said to me: O lad! Indeed, I will teach you (some) words of wisdom: Guard the Commandments of Allah (SWT), you will find Him before you (Allah SWT will help you). If you ask, ask from Allah (SWT) alone, and when you seek help, seek help from Allah(SWT) alone, and believe that if the entire mankind gathered to benefit you by anything, they cannot benefit you except by that which Allah(SWT) has written for you! And if they gathered to harm you with anything, they cannot harm you except by that which Allah (SWT) has written for you. The Pens of destiny have been lifted, and the (ink of the) scrolls has dried!

Etiquettes of Dressing

Tight and see-through clothes

- ◆ Tightly-fitting or see-through clothing could often be greater means of fitnah than actual nudity. That is why the Shari'ah of Islam has forbidden such clothing with great emphasis as it is mentioned in numerous Ahadith. The following is one of those Ahadith:

The Apostle of Allah (SAW) was brought some pieces of fine Egyptian linen and he gave me one and said: Divide it into two; cut one of the pieces into a shirt and give the other to your wife for veil. Then when he turned away, he said: And order your wife to wear a garment below it which won't show (define) her figure.

Creative Writing Skills on display!The Feeling-By Umamah Raza of 5A

The air smelt heavy of rotten flesh and dried up blood. I stood hopelessly behind the tall pillar, watching as people were being tortured all around the room. What could I do what could I do? I kept asking myself. I was useless at that point because I was way too weak. Looking around, I slipped behind one of the cauldrons. I looked inside it. Candy. Wow. From torturing to candy, they just do not mix! Screams of little girls fill my sore ears. I can't handle it. I search desperately for the controls. No sight. Just then, I see a hint of colour at the back of the room. Then everything went pitch black.

I open my eyes to see the room full of candy from all sorts. What a sight. There was something missing though, the prisoners. They weren't in their cages, however the crimson blood still remained in them. Suddenly, I was grabbed and put into a huge animal cage. I saw beady eyes at one of the corners. The eyes seemed to be getting bigger as it came out of the shadow. It was a man. He was very thin, wearing a tie and a suit. He had a grey beard. He reminded of Abraham Lincoln. Strange. He went over to a control pad and pulled down a lever. "Good luck" he whispered and disappeared at the same corner. At first nothing happened, but then the cage started to shake violently. Crimson liquid started to form at the floor and started to rise past my ankles. It looked like blood, but had a sweet smell to it, maybe strawberry juice. I did not have a clue. As it started to rise, I saw that there was no escape whatsoever. The air was starting to become impossible to breath. Oh wait, I was drowning. The hot liquid passed my chin, going straight for my nose. I took my last breath and squeezed my eyes shut.

I was somewhere else this time, on a chair. The chair was leaning back, making the bright light above me glare straight. Then a man with the same beady eyes as the incident before was wearing a doctor suit. He came over to a table which had green coloured things on it. He picked a hand full of it and came over to me. "Open wide!" he said as he forced the things in which I soon found out were vegetables. The ones I hated, the brussel sprouts! I choked on some but eventually swallowed the whole lot. I didn't just do that!!

The light that was above me, seemed to be getting brighter by the second. I looked around and soon everything was fading away, as if fire had just burnt a white paper, leaving dark brown holes here and there. The holes were getting larger, as ashes started to float about in the still air. I looked around one more time. This time I was in a more sensible place, Like in reality. A food testing lab. Then I realised that something was in my mouth. A chewy. "So how's the taste?" a man asked me. Remembering what just had happened to me, I spat it out. "It's horrible!" I screamed. "Hmm, you're the only person who said something negative out of 450 volunteers!" he said to me. I was shocked. So this is what it feels (for me) to chew Wrigley's 5 Gum apple flavored chewy!
